

Anything that Roger Sperry says on any subject about which he thinks it worthwhile to speak out, is worth listening to. But the argument of this book is especially worth heeding because it concerns a central issue of contemporary culture—the seeming conflict between the scientific view of human nature and the human view of human nature. As long as it is believed that a conflict exists the human view of human nature is likely to be downgraded; such is the prestige of science. Sperry argues forcefully that his split-brain research, by restoring mind to the functioning brain, shows that human values are every bit as much causal determinants of human behavior as are brain states. If this is the case—if values are not mere subjective epiphenomena—then it obviously matters what the values are that men and women live by. Accordingly, Sperry focusses his attention on recommending a reform of human values to make them responsive to the conditions of modern life, above all, to the problems caused by continued world population growth. This is an important book.

W. Lee

Anything that Roger Sperry says on any subject about which he thinks it worthwhile to speak out, is worth listening to. But the argument of this book is especially worth heeding because it concerns a central issue of contemporary culture—the seeming conflict between the scientific view of human nature and the human view of human nature. As long as it is believed that a conflict exists the human view of human nature is likely to be downgraded; such is the prestige of science. Sperry argues forcefully that his split-brain research, by restoring mind to the functioning brain, shows that human values are every bit as much causal determinants of human behavior as are brain states. If this is the case—if values are not mere subjective epiphenomena—then it obviously matters what the values are that men and women live by. Accordingly, Sperry focusses his attention on recommending a reform of human values to make them responsive to the conditions of modern life, above all, to the problems caused by continued world population growth. This is an important book.

Wise Man

Jones, William Thomas, educator; b. Natchez, Miss., Apr. 29, 1910
Princeton, 1936, Ph.D. (Lippincott fellow 1935-36, Proctor fellow 1936-38
Instr. philosophy Pomona Coll., 1938-40 asst. prof., 1940-42, asso prof.
1945-50, prof., 1950-72, dean men, 1947-49; Nimitz prof. social and polit.
philosophy U.S. Naval War Coll., 1953-54 vis. prof. Calif. Inst. Tech, 1970-72, prof.

✓ 1972 - Cons. and/or panelist Nat. Endowment for Humanities, Nat.
Humanities Faculty, World Book Encycl., others, Bd. divs. Wenner-Gren Found.
Anthrop. Research, 1966 -; trustee Pomona Coll., 1972.

Served to lt. comdr. U.S.N.R., 1942-46. Guggenheim fellow, 1958-59,
Ford Faculty fellow, 1955-56; Phi Beta Kappa vis. scholar, 1963-64. Mem.
(Am. Philos. Assn. (Pres. Pacific Div. 1969-70), Phi Beta Kappa.

Author: Morality and Freedom in Kant, 1941; Masters of Political Thought, 1947; A History of Western Philosophy, 1952, Facts and Values, 1961 (with others). Approaches to Ethics, 1962; The Romantic Syndrome, 1962; The Sciences and the Humanities 1965; The classical Mind, 1969; Hobbes to Hume, 1969; Kant and the 19th Century, 1975; The Twentieth Century to Wittgenstein and Sartre, 1976; also articles.

COMMENTS on SCIENCE AND MORAL PRIORITY

By W.T. JONES: President American Philosophical Association (Pacific Division), 1969-70, Consultant for National Endowment for the Humanities, Wenner-Gren Foundation Trustee, Pomona College Trustee and author of:

Morality and Freedom in the Philosophy of Kant
(Oxford, 1940).

Masters of Political Thought: Machiavelli to Bentham
(Houghton Mifflin, 1947; Harrap, 1948).

Facts and Values (University of Pacific, 1961).

Approaches to Ethics (with others), McGraw-Hill, 1961).
Second edition 1969; third edition 1977.

The Sciences and the Humanities (University of California, 1965; Cambridge University Press, 1966). Las Ciencias y Las Humanidades (Spanish Edition) 1976.

A History of Western Philosophy (Harcourt-Brace, 1952).
Second, revised edition in five volumes: Vol. I, The Greek Mind (1969); Vol. II, The Medieval Mind (1969); Vol. III, Hobbes to Hume (1969); Vol. IV, Kant and the Nineteenth Century (1975); Vol. V, The Twentieth Century to Wittgenstein and Sartre (1975).

"A sustained and powerful exposition of Sperry's position."

"I agree strongly. Today's top values are largely outmoded, and a radical reorganization along the lines he proposes is desperately needed."

"Anything Roger Sperry says on any subject about which he thinks it worthwhile to speak out, is worth listening to. This book especially is worth heeding because it concerns a central issue of contemporary culture—the conflict between the scientific view and the human view of human nature.

"Sperry argues forcefully for a reform of human values to make them responsive to the conditions of modern life, above all, to the problems caused by continued world population growth. This is an important book."

Lois

VITA

W. T. JONES

PERSONAL

Date and Place of Birth: April 29, 1910; Natchez, Mississippi
Home Address: 4201 Via Padova, Claremont, California 91711
Phone: (714) 624-0552
Married: To Molly Mason Jones, Professor of Psychology, Scripps
College; two sons
Military Experience: Served to Lieut. Commander, U.S. Naval Reserves, 1942-46

EDUCATION

B.A., Swarthmore College (Highest Honors in Philosophy and Literature), 1931
B. Litt., Oxford University, 1933
M.A. and Ph.D., Princeton University, 1936, 1937

FELLOWSHIPS AND AWARDS

Phi Beta Kappa, 1931
Rhodes Scholar, 1931-34
Lippincott Fellow, 1935-36
Procter Fellow, 1936-37
Procter Post-doctoral Fellow, 1937-38
Ford Faculty Fellow, 1955-56
Guggenheim Fellow, 1958-59
Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholar, 1963-64
Resident Scholar, Rockefeller Foundation, Villa Serbelloni, 1966, 1970

PROFESSIONAL POSITIONS

Instructor of Philosophy, Pomona College, 1938-40; Assistant Professor, 1940-42; Associate Professor, 1945-50; Professor, 1950-1972.
Dean of Men, Pomona College, 1947-49.
Nimitz Professor of Social and Political Philosophy, U.S. Naval War
College, Newport, R.I., 1953-54.
Visiting Professor of Philosophy, California Institute of Technology, 1970-72; Andrew W. Mellon Professor, 1972-73; Professor, 1973- .

AFFILIATIONS

Phi Beta Kappa, 1931
American Philosophical Association; President (Pacific Division), 1969-70
Wenner-Gren Foundation Trustee, 1966-
Pomona College Trustee, 1972-
Consultant and/or Panelist for National Endowment for the Humanities,
National Humanities Faculty, Phi Beta Kappa Emerson Award,
Blaisdell Institute, World Book Encyclopedia

PUBLICATIONS

Books

Morality and Freedom in the Philosophy of Kant (Oxford, 1940).

Masters of Political Thought: Machiavelli to Bentham (Houghton Mifflin, 1947; Harrap, 1948).

Facts and Values (University of Pacific, 1961).

Approaches to Ethics (with others), (McGraw-Hill, 1961). Second edition 1969; third edition 1977.

The Sciences and the Humanities (University of California, 1965; Cambridge University Press, 1966). Las Ciencias y Las Humanidades [Spanish Edition] 1976.

A History of Western Philosophy (Harcourt-Brace, 1952). Second, revised edition in five volumes: Vol. I, The Greek Mind (1969); Vol. II, The Medieval Mind (1969); Vol. III, Hobbes to Hume (1969); Vol. IV, Kant and the Nineteenth Century (1975); Vol. V, The Twentieth Century to Wittgenstein and Sartre (1975).

The Romantic Syndrome: Toward a New Method in Cultural Anthropology and History of Idea (Nijhof, 1961). Second edition, with supplementary notes, 1975.

Articles (only those published since arrival at Caltech are listed)

"Philosophical Disagreements and World Views," Proceedings and Addresses of the American Philosophical Association, Vol. 43, 1970.

- "World Views: Their Nature and Their Function," Current Anthropology, Vol. 13, No. 1, February 1972.
- "Talking about Art and Primitive Society," in The Study of Primitive Art, edited by A. Forge, Oxford University Press, 1973.
- "World Views: West and East," Journal of the Blaisdell Institute, Vol. 7, No. 3.
- "A Reply," Journal of the Blaisdell Institute, Vols. 6 and 7, Nos. 4 and 1.
- "Scientism, Humanism, and the Two-Tables Problem," in Thoughts from the Lake of Time, edited by J. Burchard, Macy Foundation, 1971.
- "World Views and Asian Medical Systems," in Towards a Comparative Study of Asian Medical Systems, edited by C. Leslie, University of California Press, 1976.
- Review of Arthur Koestler's The Ghost in the Machine, The Journal of Value Inquiry, Vol. 5, No. 2.
- "A Raid on the Inarticulate," The Claremont Reading Conference, edited by M. Douglass, 1972.
- "The Widening Gyre: Philosophy in the Twentieth Century" in The Great Ideas Today, 1973.
- "Reason, Feeling and World View," in The Philosophy of Brand Blanshard, edited by P. A. Schilpp, 1980.
- "Introduction," to The Evergreen Tree, by D. Davies, Honnald Library Society.
- "What's the Use of the Humanities? A Primer for the Perplexed," Engineering and Science XL (1977), 2.
- "Modes of Rationality and Irrationality" (with Bruce E. Cain), Philosophical Studies 33 (1979).
- "Somnio Ergo Sum: Descartes' Dreams" Philosophy and Literature 1980.
- "Mr. Jaynes and the Bicameral Mind: A Case Study in the Sociology of Belief" Philosophy and the Social Sciences, 1982.

W.T. Jones, William L. Faust, Margaret Listed _____
S. Faust, Molly Mason Jones

"Some Implicit Presuppositions of Typical Writings in the Field of American Intellectual History"

SSWP #355

November 1980 pages 1-19

Submitted to POTS 12-10-80

W.T.Jones, William L. Faust, Margaret Listed _____
Faust, Molly Mason Jones

"Some Implicit Presuppositions Involved in the Disagreement over the DNA Guidelines"

SSWP #354

November 1980 pages 1-19

Submitted to POTS 12-10

Margaret S. Faust, William L. Faust Listed ✓ _____
Molly Mason Jones, W. T. Jones

"Nonterminating Disagreements and Implicit Presuppositions: B. F. Skinner & Carl R. Rogers"

SSWP #357 November 1980 pages 1-18

Submitted to POTS 12-10-80