

HONORED PAIR — Dr. Roger Wolcott Sperry, left, professor of psychobiology at Pasadena's famed Cal-Tech, and Ernest J. Loebbecke, board chairman of the Los Angeles-based T I Corporation, have been named, respectively, as 1972 California Scientist of the Year and California Industrialist of the Year in the annual program conducted by the state-operated California Museum of Science and Industry, Exposition Park. Sperry received a $5,000 check for his pioneering research showing that man's brain has two "minds," and Loebbecke, a bronze plaque for building his local firm into a nationwide enterprise.
