

Sensory nerves that register joint position of right leg are crossed to left side of spinal cord in tadpole stage. In adult frog the reactions of the left leg are then determined by the posture of the right leg instead of by its own posture as is normal. Small arrows indicate point of stimulation; large arrows direction of response.

LII
SQU